

Consideration about worldwide trade evolution in the post-war period

POP Cecilia - USAMV Iasi

Development of the international economic relations and deepen of economic interdependence is reflecting on different quantitative and qualitative phenomena from worldwide economy, most relevant being the high rate development of worldwide trade.