

Échniques-économiques concernant l'évolution de la production agricole de la région Berezeni - Vetrișoaia, pendant la période de transition vers l'économie de marché

A. CHIRAN, Elena GÎNDU, Elena-Adina CIOBOTARU – USAMV Iasi
T. DIMA, V. TĂLMACIU - Berezeni, Vaslui
J. MĂLĂȘINC - Vetrișoaia, Vaslui

The durable development of the agriculture and rural space represents a major desideratum of the politics in the agriculture field, which must respond to the exigency of the demand of healthy and superior quality food, the protection and amelioration of the natural resurces, the diversity of the agricultural activities and orientation of the agricultural politics to the necessities of the commercial family agriculture, the restriction of the zootechny of industrial type. In this context, the authors emphasize the evolution of the main technical-economic indicators concerning the agricultural production realized in the period 1997 . 2001 in the region of Berezeni .Vetrișoaia, Vaslui county. There are utilized many indicators, of which we mention: the landed fund, the structure of the cultures, the production and the distribution of this, the technical equipment, the manpower, the unitar costs and sale prices, the financial results etc.