

Researches regarding the dynamics of the loss of bioactive substances in the seed of some umbelliferous species during the storage

T. ROBU - USAMV Iasi

In general, the herbs and aromatic plants existing either in simple or combined form which can be found in stores has as validity period as much as 2 years. Certainly, the amount of active substances at the beginning of the guarantee period is different from that of the end of the validity. The work presents the results of certain researches regarding the dynamics of the loss of ethereal oil throughout the validity period.