

Cooperarea și asocierea în agricultură: posibilități și limite

Camelia APETROAIE - Oficiul Județean de Consultanță Agricolă Iași

The paper analyses the role and the importance of association and cooperation process in agriculture, the actual law, the present phase of this process, the stimulating factors, the difficulties in association and their development premises in future, as well. In this context, the paper shows the agricultural situation in Iași county, regarding: fields structure, the number of animals, the present types of agricultural exploitation, their evolution in the last 6 years, the size categories of exploitation, the present phase of cooperation and association.