

The variability of the chromatic characteristics of the wines coming from Fetească neagră grape vine variety

Silvica PĂDUREANU - USAMV Iasi
Mihaela TUDOSE - Biological Research Institute Iași

The paper presents the variability of the chromatic characteristics of the wine coming from 15 clonal elites of Fetească neagră grape vine variety. The estimations regarding the chromatic characteristics of the wines, obtained in the years with different climatic conditions, point out the variability limits of the trait mentioned above, limits specific to Fetească neagră variety in correlation with the environmental conditions.