

L'ÈRE INFORMATIONNELLE ET LA MONDIALISATION DE L'ÉCONOMIE

Vârsta de informare și de globalizare a economiei

MACOVEI GH., BOGHIȚ E. - USAMV Iași

The new economy of the 21st century is a global economy, informational and ethical. In the globalization stage, the goods, capital, competences and ethical behaviour are becoming to all accessible, but couldn't be gained in a mechanical way.

The expanding of the informational and communication technologies represents the support of the informational era, and also, will be the transcendental and the technological knowledge. The vectors of the informational era are: informatics and communication technology and the Christian beliefs. The first one is the vector of the global development and the second one is the vector of the individual development.