

Aspects of energetical, economical and tehnological efficiency on the sodic and salic soils from middle sector of Prut River Meadow

D. DONOSA, E. TEODORESCU-SOARE - USAMV Iași
Geanina BIREESCU, L. BIREESCU - Centrul de Cercetări Biologice Iași

The paper work presents the aspects concerning energy and economical efficiency as a result of experiments conducted on salted soil. In order to increase the value of salted soils it has been carryed out measures assuring positive and superior energy balances and linked to the energy efficiency, the experiments showed that is a very strong correlation with economical efficiency only through respecting the technological links.