

Sorg zaharat - edulcorant natural pentru produsele alimentare

Elena PIRGARI - Institutul de Cercetări Științifice și Proiectări Tehnologice în Industria Alimentară

There are pointed out the advantages of the utilization of natural absorbents, as well as their precise mode and conditions of using are indicated in the work. The technological set-up of juice producing and the existing possibilities for processing the sorghum at the food industry enterprises are being described. In the paper are presented the results of research concerning developing of the technology of sugar sorgho production and of food products based on sorts of sorghum saccharatum with a high contents of carbohydrates from local selection: drinks, jellies, biscuits.