

Researches on the chickweed (stellaria media) chemical control in strawberries

M. DOBRE, C. BECHERESCU, M. SUSINSKI, Ana Maria DODOCIOIU, Florina GRECU -
Universitatea din Craiova

The chickweed is one of the most harmful weed in strawberries. It can easily compromise the strawberry crop because it grows during the winter and the early spring while the crop is dormant. The present researches deal with the control means by using two total herbicides that do not kill the crop which is a perennial plant. The best results were given by the 10 ml glyphosate in 10 l water at 200 l/ha.