

Globalization and the utterance of the world

Simona Catrinel AVARVAREI - USAMV Iasi

This paper aims to approach the extremely mediated phenomenon of globalization from a linguistic perspective, offered by the latest entries to the Oxford English Dictionary (June and September 2006). The choice of lexemes to be presented intends to highlight once again, that we are indeed approaching the concept of global village.