

The influence of aeration works on the turfgrass

C.I. POPOVICI, V. VÎNTU, C. SAMUIL - USAMV Iași

Thatch accumulation in lawns especially under a defective fertilization and irrigation program may become a real problem for landscapers, golf course superintendents and homeowners. A thatch layer thicker than 2 cm can cause more than one problem from water and nutrients deficiencies to serious disease infestation.