

Erasmus is truly an experience that has changed my life. After my Erasmus mobility in Italy, where I learned their beautiful language, discovered their culture, encountered incredible persons and understood the Veterinarian world there, I decided to take my last opportunity to do an Erasmus post-graduation internship and go (for the first time in my life) to the lands of my origins... Andalusia. I have been extremely glad and thankful for this experience during 5 months, the work and life there and I created a really special bond with the region of Andalusia and more particularly the city of Málaga. I would advise anyone who is willing to extend their knowledge in languages and who loves to discover new cultures, lands, people and also likes to work hard in their field, to have the Erasmus experience. For now, I am working in France, but I deeply know it is for a period of time in my life and sooner or later I will continue to work abroad, in different countries. Thanks to my experience in Romania, and my experiences trough Erasmus, I became truly fascinated of establishing myself for a period of time in different countries first as a student of Veterinary Medicine, then as a Doctor. The world is wide, thrilling and wonderful and I still wish to discover so much more.
