The Animal Sciences Faculty from the University of Agricultural Sciences and Veterinary Medicine Iasi organizes every year a Scientific Conference. This traditional event is very appreciated by Romanian Academic community. The complex themes come from all domains which have practical contributions to agricultural development and to improve rural people's life. Each edition represents an important scientific event and a good opportunity to promote the research results from agricultural domain.

The aim of this conference is to make easier the integration of specialists from European Union in international scientific community and to raise the visibility of their contribution. Each edition offers to the participants more information about present and future international activity from their fields of interest. The directly participation of representatives from the academic and business societies from many countries will allow the theoretical and practical solutions to be spread and implemented.

The scientific conference is organized yearly, in April, and reunites participants from Romania and from other countries. All papers are reviewed by recognized specialists from Romania and from other countries. There will be published only the papers with scientific quality, which fulfill the specific areas of symposium sections.

Built in Italian Renaissance style, the St. Paraschiva Metropolitan Cathedral is the largest Orthodox church in Romania. Construction began in 1833 and ended in 1839, but its cupolas fell and the church remained in ruins until 1880, when, with the help of the Foundation of King Carol I, work started again, lasting until 1888. The vast interior was painted in 1887 by Gheorghe Tattarescu and the stained glass windows were completed by a Bavarian factory in Munich.

Address: Piata Stefan cel Mare si Sfânt nr 1.

Open: Tue. - Sun 10:00am - 5:00pm; closed on Mondays Free admission (not including museums). This remarkable construction (1906-1925), built in flamboyant neogothic style, stands partly on the ruins of a medieval royal court mentioned in documents dating from 1434. Today, the 365-room palace houses the Gheorghe Asachi Library and four of the city's museums: the Moldavian History Museum, the Ethnographic Museum, the Museum of Art and the Museum of Science and Technology (see museum details). The interior décor, with the lavish furnishings and magnificent staircase of the entrance lobby, can be admired free of charge, but tickets are required for entry to the museums.

Address: Str. Agatha Barsescu 18.

Built in the late 19th century on the site of the old City Hall, this is one of the most elegant buildings in Romania. The architects were the Viennese Feller and Helmer who later built theatres in Cernauti and Sofia. Richly decorated in French-eclectic style, the theatre has one of the most splendid auditoriums in the country. It can seat 1,000 people and the acoustics are excellent. The theatre bears the name of the company's founder, Vasile Alecsandri (1821-1890), a renowned Romanian poet, playwright, politician and diplomat.

Address: Piata Unirii 1.

Built in neoclassical style in 1879 by an engineer, G. Fragneau, who worked with G. Eiffel & Co. in Paris (yes, the Eiffel who designed the Eiffel Tower), the hotel was one of the first in Europe to be molded on a metal frame. Throughout the years, many foreign diplomats and other personalities have stayed at the Traian.

In 1934, Greta Garbo spent some time here in secret during her love affair with John Gilbert.
